

Hutchinson, Kansas

October 4 – 8, 2006

Get your rigs ready. We're heading to Kansas! We're planning another convention week packed with activities organized especially for RVing Women. We'll have great entertainment, a comprehensive RV maintenance class, and an impressive schedule of educational and special interest seminars. Exhibitors will be offering super deals on services and products for RVers. Our week will also include our annual meeting, RVing Women banquet, chapter events, and just-for-fun activities that will bring you together with old and new friends.

We'll be staying at the Kansas State Fairgrounds in Hutchinson, home of the Kansas Cosmosphere and Space Center. In Hutchinson, you'll enjoy a warm, midwestern welcome, see architecture representative of each decade going back to the 1890s, and find an enticing collection of museums, shops, and antique stores.

This area hosts 1.5 million visitors each year. There is an Amish community nearby, an exoctic animal farm, a zoo where animals live in naturalistic settings, and a newly opened salt museum that is 650 feet underground. Come early. Take advantage of all there is to see and do.

To register, use the form on page 26 or go to www.rvingwomen.org.

Please use a separate registration form for each attendee.
Registrations must be received in the RVW office by September 15, 2006.

RVing Women Convention 2006

Free Seminars

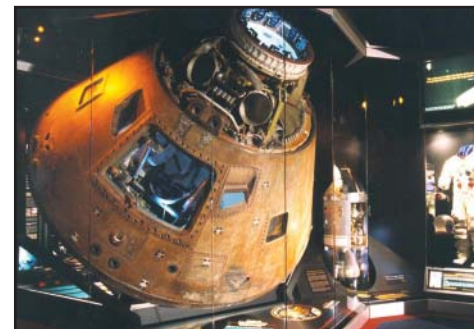

Great Exhibits

Super Entertainment

Fun Tours

See Old Friends

Meet New Friends

